

This is Google's cache of <http://radishmag.wordpress.com/2013/05/24/heroes-of-the-dark-enlightenment/>. It is a snapshot of the page as it appeared on Jul 12, 2014 00:09:05 GMT. The current page could have changed in the meantime. Learn more
Tip: To quickly find your search term on this page, press Ctrl+F or ⌘-F (Mac) and use the find bar.

Text-only version

Radish

CONSIDER THIS AN INVITATION TO THINK

Archive About Where Should I Start? Policy Donate

Links

May
24

17. Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment

88

Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment, arise! The Carlyle Club is pleased to present the first-ever guide to the new reaction’s heroic personalities (and world’s silliest blogroll).

Table of Contents

- 1. A Brief History of Reactionary Taxonomy
- 2. Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment
- 3. Letters to the Editor

The Great Seal of the Dark Enlightenment (art credits below)

A Brief History of Reactionary Taxonomy

In April and May of 2013, neoreaction experienced what Nick Land would later dub a “Cambrian Explosion.” Scharlach explains:

“ It’s a sign of maturity that the neoreactionary movement has begun to go “meta” on itself. Scholars of the Dark Enlightenment are beginning to ask self-reflexive questions about who they are, where divisions lie, and what it all means.

Well, we in the Carlyle Club for Young Reactionaries (Students Against a Democratic Society) aren’t qualified to know what any of it means, but we think this is all very exciting and we insist on being a part of it anyway! So we spent all night learning.

The story so far...

April

Veteran right-winger Anomaly UK writes a concise introduction to neoreaction. James Donald defines Dark Enlightenment and contemplates a restoration.

Spandrell divides the new reaction into three branches: traditionalist, nationalist, and capitalist. Meanwhile, Scipio Germanicus launches The Reactionary Thinker.

Nick Land relabels the trichotomy: theonomist, ethno-nationalist, and techno-commercialist. Frost comes up with three red sub-pills of his own: Christian, secular, and nihilistic. Anomaly UK contemplates reactionary unity in light of Spandrell's trichotomy. Scharlach, blasting off to Habitable Worlds, offers a visual classification —

— on the same day that Amos & Gromar opens its doors.

Heartiste, better known as “Roissy,” greatly helps in popularizing Scharlach’s visual scheme. The Social Pathologist takes on the Cathedral. Occam’s Razor examines the characteristics of the Dark Enlightenment. The Orthosphere and Education Realist find their own place. James Donald wonders what unites us. Occam’s Razor criticizes Christianity. Nick Land sketches the boundaries of broad agreement, while Spandrell expounds on his trichotomy.

May

The Cambrian Explosion continues as More Right kicks off with essays by Michael Anissimov and Samo Burja (also known as “Konkvistador”), and Raptros fires up his own blog. Nick Land and Occam’s Razor publish a visual trichotomy by one Nick Steves.

Nick Steves, still crafting "reactionary consensus," promptly creates The Reactivity Place. Return of Kings ponders the future of the Manosphere. Nick Land dubs this our Cambrian Explosion (as I think I've mentioned once or twice before). Raptros gets everyone all riled up! Nick Steves starts a series on reactionary consensus. Free Northerner publishes a reactionary reading list. GBFM wonders: "what aboOut da GRETA BOOKS FOR MENZZ!?? zllzozozo."

Ash begins blogging (under his real name, even). Notable commenter Handle discovers Darkest Enlightenment over at Foseti's place. James Donald talks God and game. Scharlach introduces myth and rhetoric. Handle drifts over to Nydwracu to distill the essence of the new reaction: "To favor the Truth, no matter how ugly or dark that truth or its implications." Michael Anissimov reconciles reactionism with transhumanism. Spandrell puts the "neo" in neoreaction.

Francis St. Pol hoists the Banner of Cosmos. Spandrell and Nick Land can't tell left from right sometimes. Anomaly UK wages a war of ideas. Frost talks specialization in this, "the opening salvo in the Cambrian explosion of crimethink." Heartiste takes aim at the "lords of lies": the Cathedral and the Hivemind. James Goulding helpfully puts everything in the form of a comet:

Nick Land makes a reality check. Nick Steves goes meta on meta. Francis St. Pol talks Sophomores and Sages. Anomaly UK gauges our chances of success. And Foseti closes out the month by exposing progressives among us! (Gasp.)

Heroes, Arise!

It is at around this point that the Carlyle Club decides that what we really need right now are wizards. And dragons. And trolls. So many trolls. We promptly inflict Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment on an unsuspecting Internet, immortalizing several authors of interest in a satirical fantasy role-playing game. All neoreactionary blogs everywhere are immediately swamped by swarms of hipster nerds ironically touting hereditary monarchy. Experts agree: all is lost, everything is ruined forever, and it's all my fault.

- 'Randoms' (Foseti)
- 'On Formalism' (James Donald)
- 'Dark Enlightenment: The Gathering' and 'Going Meta on Meta' (Nick Steves)
- 'The Specialization of Reaction' (Frost)
- 'hbd chick trading card' (hbd chick)
- 'Sophomores and Sages' (Banner of Cosmos)

We classify our Heroes by broad approach to Dark Enlightenment:

1. Formalists (theory of government)
2. Futurists (technology and transhumanism)

3. Scientists (empirical evidence)
4. Nationalists (perils of diversity)
5. Masculinists (lost art of manliness)
6. Traditionalists (keeping the faith)

You can identify each Hero's approach by an icon in the top left corner. There is also a special "university" icon for collaborative efforts, and a little bag of gold for Heroes who were sponsored by a donor (other than himself). A donation of $100 gets you a card for anyone you like. (Thank you to all our donors.)

(images: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8)

Disclaimer the First: This is a work in progress (i.e., not a complete list), presented in no particular order.

Disclaimer the Second: Not all of these fine gentlemen and ladies actually consider themselves "reactionary." We forgive them!

Disclaimer the Third: All artwork is copyrighted by Wizards of the Coast, and used here for the purposes of... gentle parody. Art credits appear below each card.

Disclaimer the Fourth: For serious content — or rather, for content which is not entirely ridiculous — do please consult any other issue of Radish.

Without further ado, please enjoy our guide to: the Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment!

Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment

Mencius Moldbug

Art by Jaime Jones

The dragon's lair is Unqualified Reservations, but stop by Moldbuggery lest ye suffer the Wand!

Nick Land

Art by Daniel Ljunggren

His main laboratory is Outside in.

Foseti

Art by Michael Komarck

His seat of power is a formidable fortress.

James Donald

James Donald

Free Man in a Shackled World

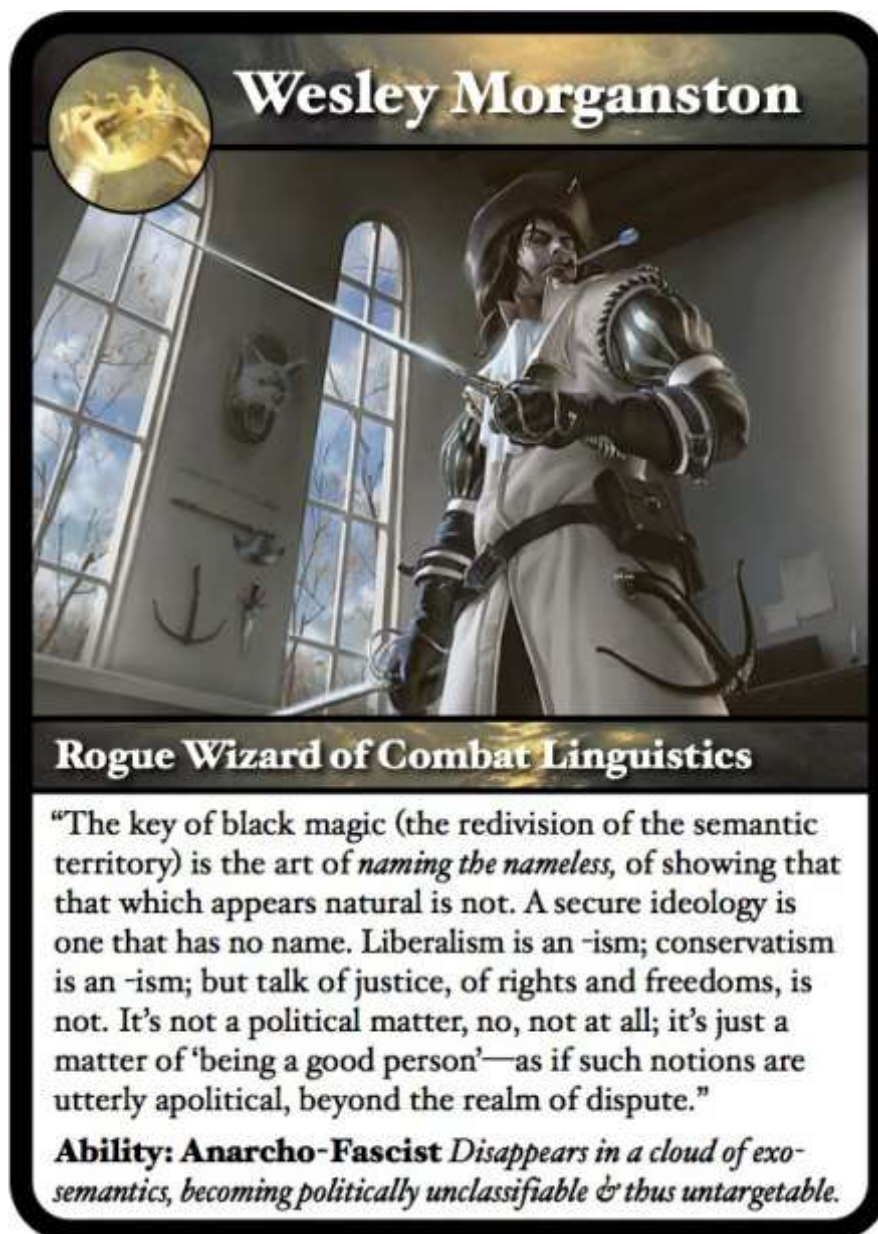

"The Dark Enlightenment does not propose that leftism went wrong four years ago, or ten years ago, but that it was fundamentally and terribly wrong a couple of centuries ago, and we have been heading to hell in a handbasket ever since at a rapidly increasing rate; that the enlightenment was dangerously optimistic about human nature and the state; that it is another good news religion, telling us what we wish to hear, but about this world instead of the next."

Ability: Ancient Tome Uncovers lost knowledge and dispels illusions. Seeing the world as it truly is, target is paralyzed by fear.

Art by Michael Komarck

Seek him at the heart of the Haunted Forest.

Wesley Morganston

Art by Jana Schirmer and Johannes Voss

If he wanted to be found, you would have found him already.

Theden

Art by Michael Komarck

They advance on us even as we speak!

Handle

Art by Jason A. Engle

All his friends are welcome in his spooky house.

John Derbyshire

Art by David Rapoza

You’ll find his secret alchemical laboratory here.

Steve Sailer

Steve Sailer

Fearless Raider of Forbidden Temples

“Can we all get along? Well, when it comes to Muslims and Westerners, the answer is: No, we can’t. When we get in each other’s faces, we get on each other’s nerves. It’s time to get out of each other’s faces. We don’t agree on the basics of social order and don’t want to live under the same rules. That shouldn’t be a problem because that’s what separate countries are for. We should stop occupying their countries and stop letting them move to ours.”

Ability: Stereotype Threat Gains one bonus attack for each protected group the target belongs to: gay, black, midget, etc.

Art by Kev Walker

He’s off raiding another long-lost tomb.

Spandrell

Art by Jason Chan

Gaze on his bloody shovel and despair!

Scharlach

Art by Jesper Ejsing

He's off charting other worlds...

Bryce Laliberte

Art by Michael Komarck

He walks the speculative edge between madness and... even more madness.

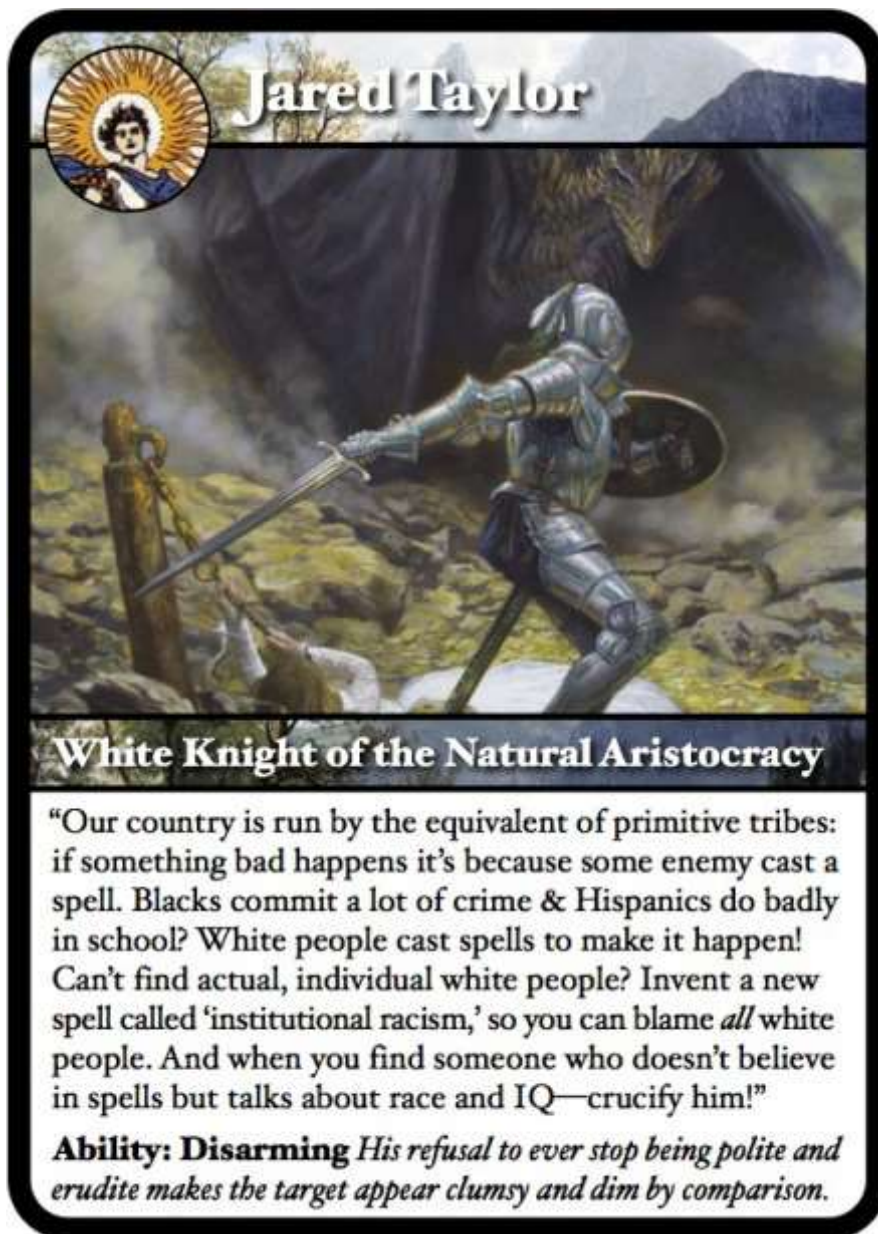

hbd chick

Art by Jana Schirmer and Johannes Voss

Last I heard, she was exploring the Great Desert. Maybe you can track her down.

Jared Taylor

Art by Donato Giancola

Find him at American Renaissance.

Michael Anissimov

Art by Svetlin Velinov

He studies at Accelerating Future and More Right (below).

More Right

Art by John Stanko

You'll find the laboratory on a tall cliff overlooking the sea.

Sunshine Mary

Art by Jana Schirmer and Johannes Voss

You'll find her guarded by a ferocious dragon! (Dragon not pictured.)

Dennis Mangan

Art by Aleksí Briclot

His adventures often bring him home to Mangan's or his mountaintop Breviary.

Lawrence Auster

Art by Igor Kieryluk

Auster has passed on, but his work remains at View from the Right.

Nick Steves

Nick Steves

Hierophant of the Counter-Revolution

“Hierarchy is natural and absolutely essential to the proper functioning of any social structure. Democracy? The best and brightest of any society were ordained by nature or nature’s god (or both) to lead. Expansion of the franchise beyond that natural aristocracy is tragically foolish. And politics, defined as competition for parcels of power (usually as a means of redistributing wealth), is rightly minimized in any sane society.”

Ability: Natural Law Grants allies immunity to Whig mind-viruses, from political correctness to progressive Christianity.

Art by Brad Rigney

Find him at the Reactivity Place.

Grep

Art by Igor Kieryluk

Here she is!

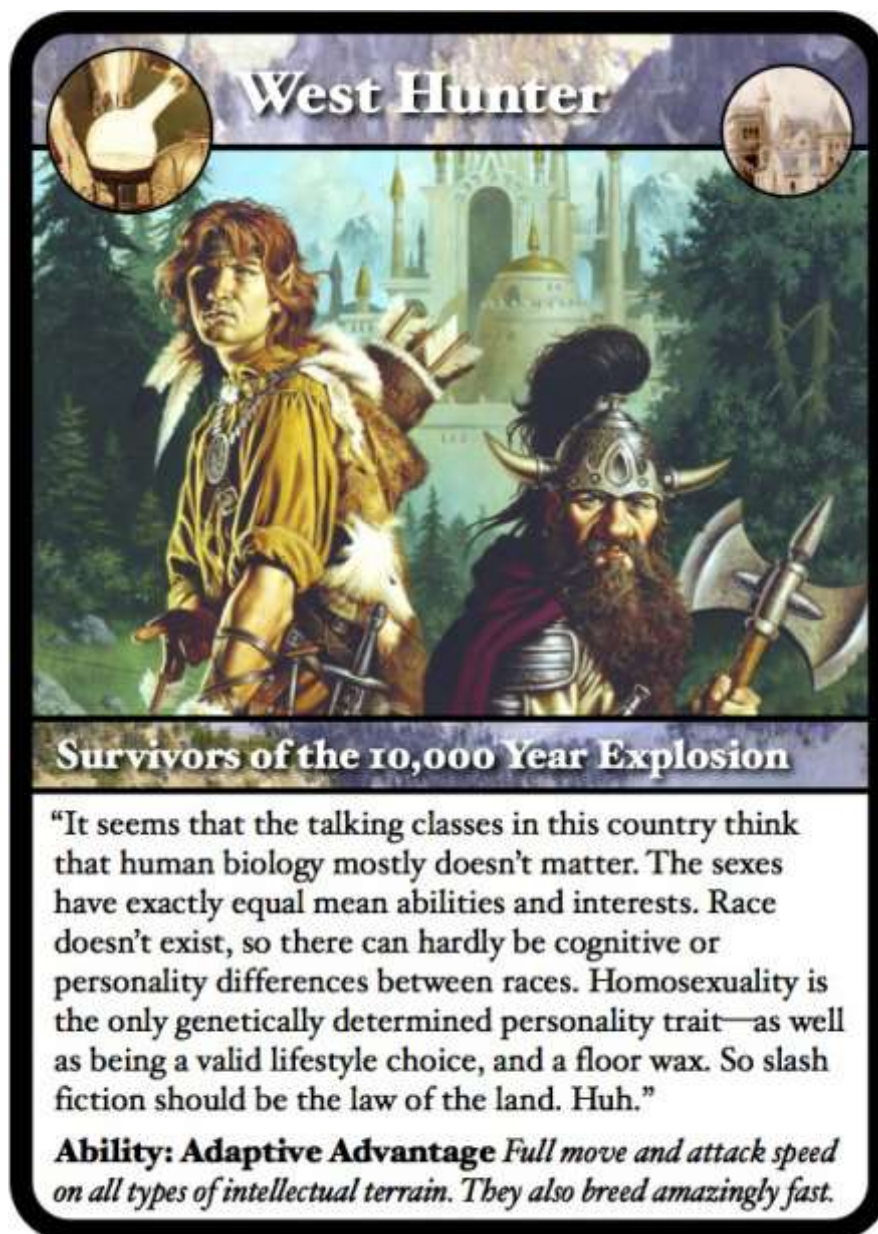

Jason Malloy

Art by Cyril van der Haegen

He performs his dark rites at Human Varieties.

West Hunter

Art by Clyde Caldwell

When they're not taking down ogres, they make camp in the West.

Occam's Razor

Art by Larry Elmore

You'll find the Fellowship's fort here.

Richard Spencer

Art by Cyril van der Haegen

You'll find him at NPI and Radix.

Alex Kurtagić

Art by Michael Komarck

Find him at home or at Counter-Currents.

Martin

Art by Jaime Jones

Martin, who was sponsored by a generous donor, lurks in a deep, dark swamp.

Jack Donovan

Art by Aleksí Briclot

Find him in the High Wilderness.

Free Northerner

Free Northerner

True North, Strong and Free

"Men are made, not born. You make a man by giving him a little area of life and telling him: 'This is yours, and you will reap the rewards of your care of it.' The man will rise to the challenge, or fail, and be forged in the process. How can we expect our young men to 'man up' when they have almost no opportunity to take responsibility? A man needs a domain of his own. Any healthy society will ensure he has many opportunities to acquire one."

Ability: Red-Pill Living Battle replenishes his life & gives him purpose, while his enemies burn out on the hedonic treadmill.

Art by Svetlin Velinov

Seek him to the North.

Frost

Art by Wayne Reynolds

You might just find him on a mountaintop.

Kevin MacDonald

Art by Michael Komarck

Find him at home or at The Occidental Observer.

C. M. Sturges

Art by Eric Deschamps

He will join us in the end times.

Eliezer Yudkowsky

Art by Zoltan Boros and Gabor Szikszai

Seek the secretive sage at home or at Less Wrong.

Rachel Haywire

Art by Terese Nielsen

Last I heard, she was lurking around these parts.

More Heroes to follow! Thank you for reading. And to all those who don't get the joke... may I just say "lol" — and "lol" again?

Share:

 23 points
  Digg

 Share 2
  626
  Email
  Print

Google+

 Karl Boetel

Loading...

Posted in Year 1

88 THOUGHTS ON "17. HEROES OF THE DARK ENLIGHTENMENT"

Ross

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 8:08 AM

Not yet a neo-reactionary, not yet quite barely a mote in my own eye, I remain bound solely by consumer impulses only, and demand a copy of these cards (and more) for self-indoctrination purposes.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel, Editor-in-Chief

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 9:28 AM

Hee hee. I think they will have to remain digital. "Copyrights" and so on. You know how it is.

Scharlach

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 9:25 AM

Brilliant. Although I was hoping to see a superfluous Hate Kitty with unspeakably evil abilities . . .

Reply

Karl F. Boetel, Editor-in-Chief

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 9:26 AM

Well, maybe I'll put one on YOUR card... It's on the way!

Pingback: Dark Enlightenment: The Gathering | The Reactivity Place

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 3:10 PM

Nice to see some girls made it in...

Ya know, if this fit ever hits the shan... and reaction goes well... reactionary... I do have a nagging fear that copyrights may be our soft underbelly...

But nevermind that for now. We're bound to attract a lawyer or two. (Jim Kalb and Nick Szabo might do...)

Reply

RadishMag

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 11:54 PM

You know you're getting a card, right? Oh yes. There is nothing you can do about it.

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 12:27 AM

Although I'm not worthy, I shall display it with pride... as long as it makes me look like Steve McQueen from the Great Escape era.

Nyk

— MAY 27, 2013 AT 1:56 PM

Even a Black and a Chinese guy are going to make it, if Radish is kind enough to make cards for them. We just need a reactionary gay and a reactionary Mexican and we're even with the Cathedral in terms of diversity, which in a fully rationalist world (LessWrong-style) would probably grant us immunity from accusations of racism.

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 27, 2013 AT 2:35 PM

We can never make ourselves immune from the weak minds and weaker characters of the sort who would make that accusation — including many who call themselves “rationalists.” The Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment may be able to help us, but not in that way.

(And don’t think I’m awarding points for any sort of diversity besides intellectual.)

Pingback: On Formalism « Jim’s Blog

CaseyAnn

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 11:08 PM

This is too much and too weird for me to handle. But I did giggle a bit upon reading,

“Well, we at the Carlyle Club for Young Reactionaries (Students Against a Democratic Society) aren’t qualified to know what any of it means, but we think this is all very exciting and we want to be a part of it anyway! So we spent all night learning.”

:-)

And, you know, seeing that I got my email at 3am “Friday night,” I believe you!

Reply

Karl F. Boetel, Editor-in-Chief

— MAY 25, 2013 AT 11:55 PM

Shhhhhh! Don’t tell anyone!!!! about my tardiness

Just bear in mind that we’re the Carlyle Club for Young Reactionaries, and while young doesn’t necessarily mean immature and a bit silly... in this case, it totally does.

CaseyAnn

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 12:14 AM

We are the reactionaries most unfortunately steeped in degeneracy; a healthy sense of humor is a necessity to get through daily life. :-)

P.S. I'm eating a radish (in a salad) right now. Every time I eat a radish, I think of you, Mr. RadishMag.

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 6:41 PM

Very true. As long as we have our sense of humor, not to mention plenty of delicious and nutritious radishes, we should be basically okay in the long run.

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 12:37 AM

Radish is always looking for partial credit for getting in HALF of an issue out on "Friday". And BTW RadishMag isn't a person's name. You need to adopt a rectorial name so it can be _____, Editor-in-Chief, Radish Magazine. Like a pro. Perhaps Clint Ffloyd (where the double F in Ffaux Wwelsh works in a manner similar to the way double L works in Rreal Wwelsh) would do...

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 1:35 AM

Oh, someone's asking for a card full of TROLL! Or perhaps... OGRE. Hee hee.

A name you say? You can call me Karl Friedrich Boetel (or just KB): Editor-in-Chief of this slapdash operation.

Thales

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 2:40 AM

Hilarious. Rumor has it that Moldbug possesses an extensive lizard collection
— I trust that was intentional...

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 3:57 AM

Um, can it be retroactively intentional? (I just wanted to make him a scary dragon. :)

Thales

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 9:57 AM

You could have said you were going for a Revelation 12:3 reference there, you know...

No matter, I'll just put on my art critic hat and say you were tapping-in to the "zeitgeist", as all good artists do, at an unconscious/inspirational level, so all possible allusions, even if unintentional, are perhaps valid at some level.

Keep up the good work.

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 6:37 PM

Yesss, the zeitgeist fixes everything, just as the dragon promised...

Thales

— MAY 27, 2013 AT 11:59 AM

'knew you'd find that Easter egg. :)

Concerned Citizen

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 7:46 AM

Hmmm, I don't know if I can handle being in the same ideology as Rachael Haywire.

Maybe it's time to stop being a neo-reactionary and found a Neo-Luddite school instead. Where did I put my wooden shoes?

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 6:38 PM

I learned, not too long ago, from a quite inquisitive person, that the wooden shoe story wasn't true after all! I was surprised — then not surprised, because that's so often the way these stories turn out.

panjoomby

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 10:32 AM

can't wait to play the RPG, "HBD: The Gathering"

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 6:39 PM

Don't forget your D20s! I'm sure we'll need, like, six of those for the impossibly convoluted rules I haven't bothered to make up.

Yet.

Pingback: hbd chick trading card | hbd* chick

Pingback: Randoms | Foseti

P

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 4:55 PM

These are brilliant, but the quote attributed to Razib Khan is actually from his erstwhile GNXP colleague Jason Malloy.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 26, 2013 AT 6:08 PM

Oh no! You are quite right. Thank you for spotting that!

It seems I got stuck mentally somewhere in: Razib Khan writes Gene Expression ~~which once employed another writer~~ and that guy wrote that famous GNXP essay so he should have a card. I had in mind the author of that specific essay, so the referent is actually Jason Malloy. (This is what happens when you don't sleep...)

Let me just fix that...

Pingback: linkfest – 05/26/13 | hbd* chick

Pingback: The Specialization Of Reaction

Pingback: This Week in Reaction | The Reactivity Place

Kevin Nowell

— MAY 28, 2013 AT 4:03 PM

I love this; but, you've done a great disservice to the theonomist/christian traditionalist sphere by leaving out such luminaries as Jim Kalb; Mark Hackard at AltRight (certainly more important than Rachel Haywire); Bruce Charlton; Kristor, Proph, Bonald et al at the Orthosphere, Zippy Catholic; and the Thinking Housewife.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 28, 2013 AT 6:21 PM

This week, I've covered only the Futurists, Scientists, and Formalists, leaving the Racialists, Masculinists, and (as you say) Traditionalists for the next issue, 'More Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment.'

I wanted to include everyone here, but this project turned out to be more time-consuming than I originally expected. In fact, this issue isn't even done; there are plenty more Formalists in the works already.

Audacious Epigone

— MAY 28, 2013 AT 9:49 PM

I can reach out and touch Steve? That's an honor. Bravo!

Sea Gate Oracle is one of my favorite cards printed in the last five years, btw.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 29, 2013 AT 4:11 AM

So what you're saying is that I should start actually playing these games... :)

Pingback: Lightning Round – 2013/05/29 | Free Northerner

nightskyradio

— MAY 29, 2013 AT 4:15 AM

Who do I kill/bribe/blackmail to get a card? Or an album cover?

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 29, 2013 AT 4:20 AM

All you have to do... is keep on being awesome.

By the way, congratulations on your engagement!

nightskyradio

— MAY 29, 2013 AT 4:33 AM

Thanks. And thanks.

Pingback: Our card for Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment | Occam's Razor

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 30, 2013 AT 7:33 PM

Although I tend to agree about the paucity of Ms. Haywire's contribution to (neo)Reaction, I think this is KB's Magazine and he can do whatever the hell he wants. He's earned at least that in most of our books. And BTW, there is no "us". There's a whole lot of us-es... as this very issue seems to document.

Reply

TWS

— MAY 30, 2013 AT 11:20 PM

Very cool!

ReplyKarl F. Boetel

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 10:22 PM

:)

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 1:35 AM

KB: you are so very kind and tolerant... for a totally racist, elitist, misogynist scumbag! ;-)

ReplyMr. Rational

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 8:49 AM

for a totally racist, elitist, misogynist scumbag!

You say that like it's a bad thing.

Nick B. Steves

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 1:32 PM

Sadly, KB's settings do not render smilies, so you'll have to view them the old-fashioned way: ;-)

Shirel

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 7:51 AM

Hi there, just a young larva fresh out of the liberal cocoon, slithering about you'r radishes om nom nom nom

Hmm, I wonder what the late Lawrence Auster's card would be, reactionary necromancy?

You need a funny one for Captain Capitalism or bi-polar :p

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— MAY 31, 2013 AT 10:21 PM

Oh no my radishes!!!

Those two definitely need cards (someday).

Pingback: A dozen links. Plus, I miss The Patriarchy more each day, don't you? | Sunshine Mary graefoi

— JUNE 11, 2013 AT 5:16 PM

Imao

Reply

Pingback: What does sex-positive feminism mean to you? | Sunshine Mary

Todd Lewis

— NOVEMBER 15, 2013 AT 1:56 PM

Where's Amos & Gromar's card?

Reply

JS123

— NOVEMBER 15, 2013 AT 5:00 PM

Can't wait to see Heartiste's.

Reply

Thales

— NOVEMBER 17, 2013 AT 3:58 PM

Heartiste's will be NSFW...

Reply

Pingback: Geeks for Monarchy: The Rise of the Neoreactionaries | TechCrunch

mindweapon

— DECEMBER 3, 2013 AT 6:46 AM

The Institute for Ethics and Emerging Technology is talking about Radish!

<http://ieet.org/index.php/IEET/more/searle20131202>

Why doesn't Mindweapons In Ragnarok get a link here? You have a ready graphic for me — some Terminator theme. A Sci Fi, futuristic pro-white blog that advocates pursuit of economic niches such as convenience stores in order to fund homeschooling families who raise children to be math and science geniuses in order compete with Asians and to take back the country isn't part of the Dark Enlightenment? I even practice what I preach, bro, my 15 year old speaks Russian and is taking AP Calculus. I'm also into vegetable gardening and raising black soldier fly larvae to avoid the poison industrial food supply. The Mindweapons will be the healthiest people in the Dystopia.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel, Editor-in-Chief

— DECEMBER 3, 2013 AT 6:53 AM

@ mindweapon: Yes indeed they are. Seems everyone's talkin' 'bout Radish these days! Exciting, isn't it. Now, the reason you don't have a card is that there are a ton of people who need one, and some are easier to encapsulate than others. I will certainly take your concept into account.

@ Todd Lewis: Rest assured Amos & Gromar will have their card as well.

@ JS123, Thales: Indeed.

Reply

Pingback: The Institute for Ethics and Emerging Technology takes notice of the neo-reactionary movement | Mindweapons in Ragnarok

Handle

— DECEMBER 4, 2013 AT 11:53 PM

Where's the Karl F. Boetel trading card?!

Reply

Pingback: Matt Parrott, "The 'Dark Enlightenment' is New Right Lite™ | Counter-Currents Publishing

Jeremy

— DECEMBER 9, 2013 AT 1:17 PM

Needs Rollo!

Reply

Todd Lewis

— DECEMBER 11, 2013 AT 12:39 PM

Will Greg Johnson and the Counter-Currents crew get cards? A Kerry Bolton card would be quite interesting.

Reply

Pingback: Why Good Girls Are Like Unicorns...Proven! | bryan paul rouleau

the sith

— DECEMBER 23, 2013 AT 11:38 PM

needs some Roissy, the Dark Lord.

Reply

g2-7f315a0acbe30c75636e3a1d47ca8f82

— JANUARY 7, 2014 AT 1:18 PM

Is Yudkowsky kosher with being classed here? He's publicly distanced himself from the movement; isn't it a little gauche to claim him as one of your own?

Reply

Dr. Phelim M'Quirk, African Correspondent

— JANUARY 11, 2014 AT 1:46 PM

Isn't it a little raciss against left-handed people to use the word "gauche"?

bwa ha haaa

Reply

g2-7f315a0acbe30c75636e3a1d47ca8f82

— JANUARY 12, 2014 AT 8:19 PM

No, it's anti-French bigotry.

Seriously, though, this feels a bit like the thing the Mormons do where they claim people for their faith.

Reply

Dr. Phelim M'Quirk, African Correspondent

— JANUARY 12, 2014 AT 8:53 PM

If this were a faith, and if we were claiming him, then maybe.

But these are just people with Ideas of Interest. They may not consider themselves One of Us... yet.

Reply

House Perspicacity

— JANUARY 17, 2014 AT 9:02 PM

I like the cards. Flavourful and fun. Here's hoping Anarchopapist and Amos and Gromar get their cards soon.

Reply

Pingback: BreakThru Radio

Anonymous

— JANUARY 30, 2014 AT 10:16 PM

It might be worrisome for you that I am a reformed 'Sixties Liberal' and approve of these antics.

But is it really fair to give me hope at this point?

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— JANUARY 30, 2014 AT 11:14 PM

Everyone is welcome to the party at Radish magazine! We have antics, and schemes, and capers galore. As for hope... well, to coin a phrase: if you're not despairing, then you're not paying attention.

Neo-Reactionary

— FEBRUARY 5, 2014 AT 9:57 AM

You made some outstanding cards in favor of certain people.

Now maybe make some cards for those we're against? Maybe make cards for some of our key enemies of the Cathedral? Cultural Marxists? Christian Cultural Marxists? Anti-Racist Fanatics?

Or the cards could be cards against ideas. I propose a card against mud sharks: No Mud Sharks! It's high time the Carlyle Club take a stance against mud sharks.

Reply

The Blue God

— FEBRUARY 6, 2014 AT 12:56 AM

I'm new here. Does the "Dark Enlightenment" have anything to do with Krishna? That is the International Society for Krishna Consciousness?

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— FEBRUARY 6, 2014 AT 2:50 AM

Absolutely no relation that I know of—although we do tend to like Julius Evola, who talked a bit about the Kali Yuga...

Dire Badger

— FEBRUARY 12, 2014 AT 8:15 AM

I kinda wish Matt Forney and Bill price made the list.

Reply

C. M. Sturges

— MARCH 12, 2014 AT 6:27 PM

Matt deserves it considering I made a new friend after spending a week with him in New Orleans. Bill Price, not so much.

Pingback: To Mayberry, Minerva, or the Matrix? | The Ümlaut

Pingback: Fools rush in and Wise Men laugh... | The Legionnaire

Pingback: "Lord, what fools these mortals be!" | Julian O'Dea

C. M. Sturges

— FEBRUARY 19, 2014 AT 1:18 PM

Thank you Karl for adding me to this illustrious list even though I'm just an old drunk curmudgeon throwing my mind puke against the Cathedral's walls and seeing what sticks. Plus, the artwork was way cooler than I could have imagined. Again thanks, the card will be prominently displayed on my site with the appropriate links back here.

Reply

Karl F. Boetel

— FEBRUARY 20, 2014 AT 8:03 PM

Oh, I'd say the "old drunk curmudgeon" demographic is the meat and potatoes of reaction, or at the very least the string beans.

C. M. Sturges

— FEBRUARY 20, 2014 AT 9:34 PM

Damn, I thought I was funny but the string bean reference is still making me laugh. Great metaphor even though my girl still calls me the "potatoes" of our relationship. Shit, now that I think about it, I'm getting a bit freaked out.

Reply

Pingback: A Genie Whose Release only its Master can Contain \(4\) – Betty Friedan's Unlikely Torch Bearer, Part I - Blue Dog Talking

Richard Garfield PhD

— MARCH 25, 2014 AT 9:49 PM

I love how all the card art is from Magic the Gathering cards...

Reply

Pingback: What is an Atavisionary? | Atavisionary

Leave a Reply

← 16. Lothrop Stoddard's Ghost

More Heroes of the Dark Enlightenment →

FOLLOW US!

Join 1,844 other followers

Follow

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Cathedral Compil... on 28. Crazy Talk

flyingtigercomics on 30. Cosmic Horror

flyingtigercomics on 30. Cosmic Horror

flyingtigercomics on 30. Cosmic Horror

flyingtigercomics on 30. Cosmic Horror

Early antiracist war... on 16. Lothrop Stoddard's G...

angrydrake on 31. Free Speech

Hard Right on 31. Free Speech

An Attempt To Figure... on 24. Fair Sex

Some links (and quot... on 4. American Rebellion

Blog at WordPress.com. | The Reddle Theme.

3

